

My Vision of Learning

I believe for all my Computer classes, you must become an active learner. You will be presented with videos, inclass demonstrations, readings, and online as well as written assestements, which demonstrate and test you on how to do a series of objectives you will be asked to learn. You will have a for each major topic you will have oportunities to repeat the exmples provided.

You will them be asked to demonstrate that you have masterd a task by preforming a programming task that utalized you new learnted skill and builds upon the sillis you already have mastered.

I expect you to use you knowledge to help other, in fact I think it is important that you share with others. However, this means that you are sharing you knowledge and staying on task.
